MURDER OF EARL DOUGLAS, FATHER CUT BY BOMBERS SUICIDES

New York Publisher Here

The future of banking control depends to a great extent on what comes voluntarily as a result of the Morgan investigation at New York, in the opinion of Eugene Foraker, publisher of the New York American.

Foraker arrived in Dayton Saturday morning to be the week-end guest of R. B. Geyer, Schantz aviator, who is the investigation would end shortly until the fall months and its resumption then would depend on what happened in the meantime.

Though reaching a low 10 degrees beneath that recorded the Friday morning, temperatures Saturday climbed rapidly and before noon were approaching the 90s for the sixth successive day this week.

The mercury dropped below the 90 mark on Friday, and continued the downward slide until 6 a. m. Saturday, furnishing pleasant sleep hours in contrast to the blast-furnace atmosphere of the similar period 24 hours earlier. From 6 a. m. to 9 a. m., however, temperatures rose 12 degrees to the 50-degree mark.

Weatherman John Daily predicted that the mercury will near Saturday and Sunday, and the weather will continue warm with no permanent relief from the hot wave for at least two days.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The east, still fainting under heat that had killed men and animals, showed a slight reprieve today.

It rained in scattered thunder showers and stirring breezes really meant relief.

More than 125 people died in a wave of steaming torridity that rolled from the Midwest over the three days ago, and then over the Atlantic seaboard. Many of the deaths were directly due to the heat, some to related causes.

put through to rectify some of the conditions which have handicapped banking, it is probable that the probe may not be resumed."

"Everything depends on what the Roosevelt administration will be able to do in this direction."

Up to the present time enough has been revealed which I believe will result in important changes being made in the income tax law."

Geyer will entertain for Foraker a dinner at the Miami Valley Hunt and Polo club Saturday night. Foraker will return to New York Sunday.

Publicity For All Income Returns Is Voted by Senate.

The senate's investigation of J. P. Morgan and Co. is over, but developing to a train of consequences that will seriously affect the country's income taxpayers.

Publicity for all tax returns was voted by the senate last night in an amendment to the industrial bill, and there was every indication that this removal of secrecy would be made law.

Senator La Follette (Ia.), however, the new commissioner of internal revenue.

Both were direct results of the Morgan inquiry's disclosures, and of previous banking committee investigations. The Morgan partners said no income tax in 1931 and 1932, and hardly any in 1933.

Charles E. Mitchell, former president of the National City bank, is on trial now on a last year's approval of its leaders' acceptance of President Roosevelt's compromise on veterans' compensation, to be followed by agreement with the senate on the whole bill. passage by both senate and house is of eleven hours' duration.

ADJOURNMENT BY SATURDAY NIGHT LIKELY

Fourteen Hours of Work Face House and Senate on Last Day.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Adjournment tonight is the goal as congress strives to complete in just one session the monumental emergency program of President Roosevelt's greatest legislative production of peace time.

In the sweltering summer heat, senate and house were called together early, facing at least 14 hours of tremendous work before the three-month term could be ended at midnight.

The senate's passage last night of the $3,500,000,000 public-works industrial control bill, and the agreement of house Democratic leaders to the chief compromise proposal of veterans' compensation, has made this final adjournment possible, but there was such a mass of parliamentary procedure to be handled in both chambers that adjournment was not expected until late in the afternoon.

MATTERS IS ON FINAL LAP OF RUSSIAN TRIP

Flying to Siberian Town, Where Transpacific Hop Will Begin.

MOSCOW, June 10.—Flying the last stretches of his voyage across Russia today, J. Mattern Matters hoped to make Khabarovsk, Siberia, from where he will hop off for the North American continent.

Although he was unreported in Moscow after passing Irkutsk early this morning, he should have met fair weather conditions over the entire route into Khabarovsk.

Apparently, this afternoon, he was flying fast toward his destination. The weather here here he said he would encounter fair to cloudy weather, with some local rain, but not fog, and light variable winds.

The Texan left Beloye, Siberia, at 1:55 a. m. Moscow time (5:50 p. m. Friday eastern standard time) and passed over Irkutsk, about 40 miles to the east, exactly 40 minutes later.

Matters was considerably behind the pace set by Harold Gatty and another aviator, who, in 1931, circled the globe in eight days, 15 hours and 31 minutes.

Gatty and Post left Irkutsk when they were three days, 22 hours and 14 minutes out of New York, but Mattern flew over Irkutsk six days, 13 hours and nine minutes after leaving New York.

With favorable conditions for the 1970-mile jump from Irkutsk to Khabarovsk, Mattern is expected to arrive at the pumping-off place this afternoon for Post and Gatty, the lag brought difficult flying conditions for Post and Gatty. At Khabarovsk they were delayed more than a day; they spent just 19 hours and 14 minutes from New York to Khabarovsk.

NINE ARE DEAD AND 75 HURT IN EXPLOSION

Flames Shot Into Screaming Through Bathers in North Jersey.

NORTH ARLINGTON, N. J., June 10.—Nine persons were known to be dead today and perhaps 75 were injured by terrific explosions which tore a celluloid plant asunder, fired seven houses and shot sheets of flame into a screaming throng of bathers.

The blasts, which occurred last night, are believed to have caused several other deaths. Many of the injured were in a critical condition.

Firemen here at a rendezvous in search of a man who was burned in the water. In the Pasaic river, where bathers fled to escape the flames. At least three of the dead are children.

The heat had brought scores of people to a small bathing beach near the plant of the Atlantic Prophyll Waste Co. dealers in celluloid. At darkness the scene was crowded with people. Men, women and children lingered, splashing in the water, and flames shot upward 200 feet high.

Suddenly, an eye witness, John Jackson, said—there was a roar and flames shot upward 200 feet high.

Burning debris and flaming celluloid fell in showers. New sheets of fire shot outward. Shrieks of people in the hospital were echoed by the screams of bathers as they plunged toward the river.

Scorched or severely burned their bathing suits aflame, many of them plunged toward the river as a second explosion shattered the night. It was the blast of a gasoline tank, spluttering fire anew, enveloping a garage and a parked car.

Several women, already badly burned by blazing clothing, were torn to dart into the water. Margaret La Toie was seen trying to swim the river. A flaming child, who had been seen in the water and was drowned, police said.

Others on the list of dead were: Mrs. Joseph Killip, Her daughter, Mildred, 13, George Dale, 10, and Dale's wife, a 2-year-old child, whose last name is unobtainable.

Another child, two adults, and a woman, arriving from seven towns, found a scene of horror. In the Pasaic river, where bathers fled to escape the flames. At least three of the dead are children.

GOODMAN AGAIN CRACKS PAR TO MAINTAIN LEAD

Nebraska Amateur Has 10 One-Putt Greens in Scoring Brilliant 70.

NORTH SHORE GOLF CLUB, Glenview, Ill., June 10.—Par-cracking par by his second consecutive round with a sparkling 70, Johnny Goodman, the Omaha amateur sensation, increased his lead today in the United States Open golf championship. He has a 54 hole total of 211.

Goodman, in another glittering display around the greens, finished his third round two under par, with a 74 on the incoming ninth. His shot making was scarcely less spectacular than when he scored a record 60 yesterday and kept a gallery of more than 2000 spectators in an uproar. The Nebraska had 10 single putt greens in his bag today, a feat which brings to a total of 40 his record number of single putts in professional challenges.

A heavy rainfall hit the course at 4 p. m. The fairways were suddenly slower as a consequence. Goodman, who had been a biting brisaker, while the mercury began another rapid ascent.

Goodman appeared a half hour after his nearest rival, Tommy Armour, who had 143, in the day's playing schedule for two full rounds.

Goodman started in company with Ed McCarty, who was also in the company of Casstown manager Earl Smith. Faded Unconscious Near Century—Rescued Motorist in Crash.

JEALOUS SAID TO HAVE BEEN MOTIVE IN DOUBLE CRIME

Upland Avenue Home Scene of Early Morning Tragedy, When Roomer Turns Maniac—Say Killing Premeditated.

Turned into a raging maniac by an insane jealousy, Henry C. Moorlock, 29, ex-sailor, murdered his best friend, Earl Douglas, 19, in a vicious attack in their bedroom at 409 Upland ave. at 4 a. m. Saturday, and then committed suicide by drinking poison.

Creeping up on Douglas while he was sleeping, Moorlock slashed him from his right eye to his left eye with a three-inch hunting knife and attacked James G. Douglas, 60, Earl's father, when he broke into the room.

Corner Maurice Cooper said the murder was premeditated. In a letter to a sister written June 6 which was not mailed, Moorlock had said, "Someone has made a mess of my life and they are going to pay for it. May God forgive me for what I am going to do."

James Douglas said that there was an unusual close acquaintance between his son and Moorlock. Moorlock was jealous of all acquaintances of Earl and would permit him to form no other friendships, the father said.

The two had been friends for years. Friday night when they retired there was no hint of any trouble. Moorlock had been living with the Douglas family for several months. The family moved to the Upland ave. address from Bittner st. four months ago.

The elder Douglas, unable to sleep because of illness, was in a front bedroom of the bungalow when he heard someone gasping heavily and staggering about in the parlor occupied by his son and Moorelock.

Finding the door locked, the father broke it with his shoulder. His son was crushed beneath his feet attempting to escape through a window. Blood was pouring from his head. Moorelock was standing near the door facing young Douglas.

"He was like an animal," the father said of Moorlock. "He was snarling and lunged at me. I was too weak to hold him and he happened to catch my arm. My attention from Earl, I backed from the room holding my hands before my face so he could cut my throat."

Moorlock followed the older man to the front bedroom where the father stumbled and fell. He had seen cut on the arm when he first opened the door. Young Douglas, unable to speak and the verge of a collapse, staggered into the parlor. Moorelock was standing near the door facing young Douglas.
